Dependent Types

- Write programs and prove them correct in the same language.

  - Specifications for programs are sets of dependent types.

  - Writing programs with these dependent types is equivalent to proving each property in the specification.

  - Type checking these programs machine checks your proofs.

Dependent Types

Not resource sensitive; has all of the structural rules!